Dear Honorable Guam Senator,

I am the mother of Asher Dean Simbahan Lubofsky. I live in the Philippines. I have kept my torment private for 2 ½ years. Its not my way to speak out and keeping to myself seems what makes others happy. I do have much to say and I want to speak with you. I can no longer stop myself. I won't write and talk about Asher now as I can't without getting upset too much.

I wasn't going to speak at all until I read what your Guam doctors said in your newspaper and online. I think protecting ALL of your Guam BABIES and CHILDREN is more important than protecting doctors. I don't get it. How can this even be discussed. How can people in charge there think their babies are not as important as these doctors. I was told that if I live there that doctors can hurt my children by negligent, especially if poor and I must accept it. After they hurt your babies then the people can't stop them from seeing other babies and doing the same. Is this true? Do you allow this. In Philippines you can't do that. How can a mother stop it?

Shame on the people who allowed this to happen. Its so hard for me to imagine this. Asher wanted to be a fireman. Maybe he would have saved lives. Maybe your children who died from mistake would have saved lives. We will not know that as the law favors the rich and kicks the poor.

Please change the law to allow parents like me to find out what happened to our children. Don't send us away because we can't pay arbitration and can't do anything for you and have no words to fight with doctors. We even have more rights here in Philippines. Save a life by blaming those who hurt us, so they don't hurt anyone again. Change the law to the new law 112.

I miss Asher so much. Watching these doctors escape from killing or hurting Guam babies or anyone breaks my heart. Its rich vs. poor.

Sincerely

Cristine Simbahan
